

We guide people to their destination.

Intercultural competence for staff and organizational development.

If you knew what you know.

There is no magic formula for staff and organizational development. There are, however, the questions we ask. The answers you give are incorporated into the well-grounded, proven processes we use to uncover your team's skills and potential and to smooth the path to the goal. Your goal.

Think global, act local.

South Germans think differently to North Germans; the Swiss function differently to the Austrians. Knowing the intercultural differences between source and target markets and being able to employ them for your company's benefit is one of Global DiVision's unique characteristics. We don't have to find our way to you. We are already there.

Invest in success.

The path to the goal is just as unique as the people who are following it. So what we provide along the way is individuality, not pre-prepared PowerPoint slides. Step by step, until the level of productivity is right; until your commitment has paid off and you have got where you want to go. So invest in motivation and success. Invest in Global DiVision.

What we're like.

As an internationally focused company Global DiVision bundles the competences of an extensive network of independent specialists able to contribute over 20 years' experience in personnel development. We work with passion and, whenever necessary, disagree passionately to achieve success. Your success.
